BRITAIN AND GERMANY.

STATEMENT PROMISED.

Service to the "Telegraph."

Bombay, Nov. 13 7.35 a.m.

Lord Selborne, speaking at Newcastle, referred to the recent speeches made in the Reichstag to the hostility shown towards Great Britain, and to the threats of war. He emphasised Great Britain's right to ask for explanations.

Either too much or too little had been said, and Great Britain should know the legitimate aspirations of the German people, to which she was supposed to be a constant and an obstinate obstacle.

In the House of Commons Mr. Goldman, M.P., put a series of pointed questions to the Government respecting Anglo-German relations.

Mr. Asquith said the questions covered matters of such gravity and delicacy that it was impossible to deal with them adequately in question of time. Sir Edward Grey would make a full statement in the course of the debate on foreign affairs next week.

THE DICTATOR.

Durban, Nov. 16 11.50 p.m.

In his speech at Newcastle Lord Selborne denounced the Parliament Act. He said that Britain was now under the control of a single man, because the Lords were impotent and the Commons were gagged. The situation was unparalleled in any civilised country.

Mr. Chao King-wa has been retained in the directorship of the railway.

BANK CONTROL.

The Canton Chamber of Commerce has advised the branch office of the Tachung Bank in Hongkong that the Tachung Bank in Canton is under the control of the new government, and that similar control will be exercised over that in Hongkong. The Hongkong branch has been requested to balance accounts to date preparatory to the transfer of control. In reply the Tachung bank in Hongkong has requested the Chamber to advise them as to the arrangements for the transference of control.

Yesterday a meeting was held in the hall of the Canton Chamber of Commerce; all the societies in Canton were represented. It was decided temporarily to accept as legal tender, old notes of issue to the amount of $5,000,000 which will be placed on the market together with $1,000,000 in old notes which are still circulating in the market. These old notes to the value of $5,000,000 were left in the Provincial Treasury, and they are to be placed on the market at this juncture pending the issue of new notes by the new government. The old notes will then be redeemed in exchange for new notes. The meeting decided to notify Hongkong to accept the present Chinese notes of issue in doing exchange business. The Canton Government will also be requested to notify the Customs stations to accept these old notes for payment. The public will be instructed that they need not fear to accept these notes as there are sufficient securities against them in the form of advances to the merchants in Canton and also investments in properties.

General Lung Chik-kwang is still residing at his "Spring camp" and carrying out his duties as usual. The troops under his command are in perfect good order and the three battalions raised by the ex-Viceroy have been sent back to Kwang-sai.

General Lung has issued a notice saying that some local bandits are falsely representing themselves as Republican troops and are recklessly looting and annoying the people and disregarding the dignity and honour of the army. He now enjoins the troops under him to execute the orders to arrest such men and put them to death on the spot, as required by martial law.

RUSSIA AND PERSIA.

ULTIMATUM EXPIRES.

[SERVICE TO THE "TELEGRAPH."]

Bombay Nov. 16 7.35 a.m. Information from Russian sources is to the effect that the ultimatum recently delivered expired on Monday night, and that Russia is despatching a battalion to Tabriz. It is added that failing satisfaction 200 Cossacks from Astrabad will reinforce the Consular Guard.

Russia has also sent troops into the provinces of Gilan and Tabriz, where, Russia asserts, Persia is unable to maintain order. Any Russian expedition, it is stated goes to secure peace and maintain order, and not for the purpose of occupation in the broad sense of the word.

TROUBLE BREWING.

Bombay Nov. 16 2.10 p.m. Reuter's correspondent at St. Petersburg says that it is authoritatively stated that unless the Persian Government completely satisfies the demands of the Russian note troops will be sent Hazvin. — Reuter.

FALSE REVOLUTIONARIES.

The day before yesterday, some bad characters, falsely representing themselves as soldiers of the Republican army, went to the police stations and military guard houses, and also to business firms at Honam, to ask for the loan of arms and subscriptions of money. Reports of their doings reached the Headquarters and Li Fuk-lam, alias Li tang-yung, one of the reformed robber-chiefs, was ordered to suppress them. He led a company of his soldiers to Honam, and after a little fighting with the impostors many arrests were made. The prisoners were tried by Court-martial, and three of them were sentenced to summary execution. Yesterday morning a number of men of similar ill-repute ordered the soldiers at the guard-house in front of Wa Lam Monastery to surrender their arms and ammunition. A company of real revolutionary soldiers were at this time being put up inside the Monastery and hearing the disturbance came out to disperse the intruders, and fired on them. Three of the pretenders were shot dead and two seriously wounded.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S ORDERS.

The Governor-General has given orders to open and shut the City gates, except the Big North Gate, at the usual hours, viz. to open at 5 a.m. and to shut at 7 p.m. every day.

A notification has been put up giving people to understand that as the situation is now calm and quiet the Republican Government may withdraw its troops and reserve them for future emergency. Yet rumour has it that more soldiers are still wanted for the forming of a "Death Dreadnought" Corps. This is however, not an order of the Governor-General and the upkeep will not be borne by the Government. Those who have been misled and persuaded to come to join the corps are advised to disperse at once and return to their former occupations. The Governor-General has fixed monthly wages of $10 for each soldier and has issued a notice that the rumour that they will be paid $4 a day is unfounded.

GENERAL LUNG.

General Lung Chik-kwang is still residing at his "Spring camp" and carrying out his duties as usual. The troops under his command are in perfect good order and the three battalions raised by the ex-Viceroy have been sent back to Kwang-sai. General Lung has issued a notice saying that some local bandits are falsely representing themselves as Republican troops and are recklessly looting and annoying the people and disregarding the dignity and honour of the army. He now enjoins the troops under him to execute the orders to arrest such men and put them to death on the spot, as required by martial law.

STRIKES AND THEIR CAUSES.

So ineffectual have been the attempts of our Chinese employees materially to interrupt the even tenor of our business course that we now gather consolation and feel rather disposed to thank our erstwhile enemies for supplying us with a subject for editorial consideration. The mixed condition of things in China Proper is, of course, an inexhaustible subject, but in a sense it is associated with "strikes and their causes." After all a revolution is a strike on a large scale. The world has seen with disquiet of late a growing spirit of unrest in every part of the globe. As we pointed out some little time ago the unrest is as pronounced in republican as in monarchical countries; among the community in which the wage-earning classes are extremely well paid as well as in those in which the payment for labour is barely sufficient to maintain life. To recall only the larger disputes, France has had her system of communications violently dislocated, the United Kingdom suffered similarly though less violently and in Australia, the "working-man's paradise," a strike of coalminers, attended by violence, caused immense loss and suffering and led to the temporary establishment of something that very much resembled martial law. At the present moment no strike of great magnitude is in progress, but it may fairly be said that the spirit of unrest is as strong as ever and that the relations between Capital and Labour the world over partake of the character of an armed truce. Just as between the great Powers there is a state of tension and uncertainty that is almost as costly and destructive as a state of active war, so between Capital and Labour there is a condition of suspicion and uncertainty that leads to energies that might usefully be devoted to purposes of production being employed in preparation for a titanic struggle that, it is feared, is inevitable.

The cause is to seek. It is generally said that the high cost of living is at the bottom of the whole trouble. In our own case, neither money nor the high cost of living is a factor in the strike; we were so bold as to disobey one of the edicts of our dearly beloved, late lamented staff, nothing more. There is certainly ground for holding that the high cost of living theory is correct, as regards strikes in general, however; but the explanation does not carry us far enough. What is the cause of the high cost of living? Extravagance and a growing love of luxury, reply many. This hardly seems a complete explanation. A newspaper in matters such as this can naturally only put forward the theories of the lay element. It cannot and does not pretend to be able to offer anything more than suggested explanations of social phenomena. With this reservation in mind, may not the real cause lie deeper? Has the demonization of silver anything to do with the existing state of things? The gold production of the world is increasing, whilst the purchasing power of that metal is apparently decreasing, which would be a natural result. Has this fact anything bearing on the high cost of living and if so is there not a simple, if reactionary, means of solving the difficulty? There are, we know, in Hongkong men who have made a close study of this subject, and as it is one of vital interest we freely place our columns at their disposal for what might be an interesting and informing discussion.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Below are given the proceedings of the Legislative Council yesterday afternoon, which had not concluded when we went to press:—

The Colonial Secretary (the Hon. Mr. A. W. Brewin), in submitting the Bill entitled an ordinance to provide for a more effectual control over Societies and Clubs, referred to a schedule of exempted societies appended to the printed draft of the Bill. No attempt had been made, he said, to make an inquiry as to all clubs and societies in Hongkong. The list had been taken from the directories and such sources, and was simply intended to give the public an indication of the way in which the Government proposed to treat societies and clubs in general. He asked that no alterations be made except such as could be shown to be absolutely necessary. It was an ordinance which was very much mangled in the Straits Settlements and this was its final form.

The Bill went through committee with nothing more than a few clerical alterations, was given its second and third readings and passed.

Final approval was also given to the Bill entitled an ordinance to amend the Liquors Consolidation ordinance, 1911; and to three ordinances designed as a revision of the law by repealing either wholly or in part, enactments which have ceased to be in force or have become unnecessary; amending errors and the language used in other enactments; and by other amendments and the incorporation of further amending ordinances.

The Council rose soon after five o'clock, the sitting having lasted for two hours and a half.

So sped the time in the tedious iteration of clauses after clauses until the approach of four o'clock, when the Council turned with a greater sense of wakefulness to the second reading of the bill entitled an ordinance to amend the Defence Contribution Ordinance, 1901.

The Hon. Attorney General said he need not explain the Bill at length. It was drafted on the instructions of the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

The Hon. Mr. E. A. Hewett, speaking on behalf of the Unofficial Members, said that in the estimates for next year laid on the table four weeks ago there was an entry for Military Contribution of $1,372,089. He had very little to say on the subject, as His Excellency was fully aware of the views of the Unofficial Members, as expressed in the resolution passed at the meeting in June last. The only reply they had received was the Bill now before them. Therefore they could only suppose the Secretary of State refused to consider their point. However, the Unofficial Members were unanimous in considering that twenty per cent. of the revenue of the Colony was too large a contribution. The senior Unofficial Member would therefore, on their behalf when the Bill reached the Committee stage, move that the vote be reduced not to exceed $1,000,000; that was, he would propose the reduction of the vote by $372,089.

His Excellency replied in measured terms, which were calculated to convince the dissatisfied Unofficials that their intentions were doomed to futility.

"The Bill before the Council," he said, "is one which I have been instructed by the Secretary of State to introduce, and I have his instructions that it is to be passed without amendment. I shall therefore be unable to accept the amendment which is intended to be proposed by the senior Unofficial Member in committee. I would remind you that this Bill represents an effort on the part of the Secretary of State for the Colonies to exempt from assessment for Military Contribution the earnings of the railway. This, so far as it goes, is a concession, and I think I am right in saying that it represents the action which is taken in the Straits Settlements, where they have had railways for some time."

The Secretary of State, continued His Excellency, was not an independent authority on that question. He had to consult with the Treasury and with the War Office. However, much he might desire to relieve the Colony of a portion of the Military Contribution, he was not able to do so without the consent of the Lords of the Treasury and the War Office. In the despatch in which he instructed him (His Excellency) to introduce the Bill, he said he had obtained the assent of the Lords of the Treasury and the Military Authorities to the exemption of the revenue derived from the railway from the assessment for Military Contribution until such time as the railway became a paying concern.

This Bill, therefore, concluded Sir Frederick, "does not represent, as the hon. member who has just spoken says, the reply of the Secretary of State to the representations which were made in this Council in June last. Nor does it in any way infer that the Secretary of State has refused to consider the point. I have not had a reply to the despatch which I sent him covering the report of the resolution proposed by an Unofficial Member in Council, but I have heard unofficially that the delegates from this Colony on the occasion of the Coronation had an interview with the Secretary of State, and that he told them he was about to appoint a Departmental Committee on which there would be representatives of the Colonial Office and of the War Office and of the Treasury; and that the interests of the Colonies would be represented by the Colonial Office. I think, therefore, we may believe that the Secretary of State is doing his best in this matter, and so far as this Bill is concerned there is nothing whatever in it to indicate that he has laid aside or refused the desires which were represented by the Unofficials in June last. The Bill, as I have said, deals only with a particular point in regard to the Military Contribution, and the Secretary of State desires that it should be confined to that and should be passed without amendment."

A brief, whispered consultation between the Unofficial Members ensued, after which the Hon. Mr. E. A. Hewett said he feared there was some misunderstanding as to whether they could or could not move an amendment in committee. If not, they would move one now.

His Excellency: You can move an amendment in committee but—

The Hon. Mr. E. A. Hewett: And it won't be accepted by the Government? Yes, we understand.

The Bill was then considered in committee, and was reported, on the resumption of open Council, to have passed through without amendment. It was then read a third time and passed.

ADMIRAL LI'S APPEAL.

The new authorities of Kwangtung have a most difficult situation to their credit that thus far since the revolution they have maintained a very fair semblance of law and order. It is generally believed that the peace and harmony of the Southern Capital will soon be restored under a progressive and enlightened government, though misunderstandings in the shaping of the new order of things are bound to crop up. Admiral Li's appeal to the Societies, a free translation of "Shao Po" is appended, states:—

"Ever since the Declaration of Independence in Canton, the outward appearance of the city seems to be very quiet. During the last few days, friction through the surrender of arms has manifested itself repeatedly. As everybody knows that the province of Kwangtung is owned by the people of Kwangtung, the writer's duty at present is to maintain peace in the various places. So long as he is on duty, he has to fulfil his promises to maintain order. However, if things assume a serious aspect and cannot be saved, the writer cannot do much good, even though he die for them. As the present situation is so critical, it behooves the Societies to come together for a conference and endeavour to devise means of saving the situation. The writer is quite confident that his appeal will be taken notice of, as societies have the welfare of their country at heart."

CRICKET.

IN WHOSE NAME?

Interesting Point in the Summary Court.

Before Mr. Justice Gompertz in the Summary Court this morning, Yee Yuen & Co. sued John and Jessie Tatum to recover the sum of $177 for goods sold and delivered.

Mr. Hind (for the defendants) said that the second defendant was Tatum's wife. He was prepared to consent to judgment against the husband, Mrs. Tatum had contracted the debt on behalf of her husband.

His Lordship—What is it, ordinary household necessities?

Mr. Hind—Yes.

His Lordship—Has the wife any independent means?

Mr. Hind—She takes in boarders on behalf of her husband.

His Lordship—Then she is trading?

Mr. Hind—Not exactly. She is living in a house where her husband is carrying on the business of boarding-house keeper.

His Lordship—In whose name is the house taken?

Mr. Hind—The husband pays the rent.

His Lordship—I can't advise the plaintiff to drop the wife, because he may have a very good defence against her.

Mr. Hind—I am not asking your Lordship to advise her to do that, but if he disputes it I am ready to argue the question.

His Lordship—I don't think both are liable. If the wife is the husband's agent, then she is liable.

Mr. Hind—If the wife is living with her husband, then she is not liable.

His Lordship—Boarding houses in the Colony are generally run by women, mostly married women, and the husband is perhaps a general encumbrance (laughter). Of course, I don't for a moment suggest it is so in this case.

Plaintiff on being asked whether he was prepared to accept judgment against the husband replied in the negative.

His Lordship—Very probably the plaintiff is a wise man. I must give him a day.

Mr. Hind—I ask for discovery.

His Lordship—What do you want discovery for?

Mr. Hind—I want to know who got credit.

A date was fixed for the hearing of the action and discovery was ordered.

CLAIM AND COUNTER-CLAIM.

Before the Puisne Judge in the Summary Court this morning, the case was mentioned in which M. P. Talati is seeking to recover from F. K. Tata the sum of $1,000.

Mr. Gardiner, for the defendant, applied for leave to file a counterclaim, and asked that the hearing be adjourned for a fortnight.

Mr. Shenton, for the plaintiff, said that his friend had already had discovery.

Mr. Gardiner said he would give his friend discovery respecting the counterclaim.

The case was adjourned.

BOXING.

Bill Lewis has arranged a great programme for December 2nd, when the welterweight, lightweight and featherweight supremacies of the Orient will be at stake.

Stoker Higgins of the Kent meets Micky Dunn, H. M. F. Minotaur, in the best of 15 two-minute rounds and defends the lightweight supremacy. The winner is to receive $100 and the loser $75.

The opening contest will be a 10 round bout between Littlejohns, H. M. S. Tamar, and Senanier, H. M. S. Minotaur, for a purse of $50, divided $50 and $40. These two men are well matched. Both have reputations and a good contest should result.

The boxing has opened at the Robinson Piano Co., and the prices of admission are $5, $4 and $2. Soldiers and sailors in uniform half price to the $2 seats. Only booked seats in the dress circle will be guaranteed, so those desiring good seats in that part of the house should not forget to book. Mr. H. J. Gillman has taken over the management, and Lewis has started his indoor exercise at the V. R. C. commencing at 5 o'clock every afternoon.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Don't—!

Some years ago Glasgow people were terribly offended by the appearance, in great black letters on the Corporation framcars, of the words "Don't spit!" Perhaps they believed themselves not guilty of the habit, but the announcement of the Tramways Manager that a two weeks' run of the offending notice made for greater cleanliness in the cars suggested that they did indulge in the habit. We are reminded of the Glasgow notice by a leaflet which came into our hands yesterday. It is one of many which a Chinaman was distributing, and, in Chinese and English characters, it says, "Please don't spit on the pavement or any public places." The Glasgow notice beat that. It told you peremptorily to give over altogether. The Hongkong notice merely bade the pavement and public places. The fireplace—even the other fellow's boot—are still open to the spitter. Seriously, however, the advice is good. Spitting is not only a dirty habit but is dangerous to public health. "The Society for the Suppression of Promiscuous Spitting in Public Places" is trying to do good. If it is as successful in securing its purpose as in securing a finely alliterative title, it should do well.

Oriental Suspicion.

The workings of the oriental mind, if hard to follow, are sometimes, at any rate, strikingly consistent and regular. Why the belief should have spread through India that the plague was started by the Government who ordered the drinking-wells to be poisoned has never been understood. Now a message from Tokyo tells us that the Japanese are coming to be hated in China because of a general belief that the plague epidemic in Manchuria was brought about by the poisoning of wells by Japanese officials. Possibly, says a contemporary, the Japanese have been attempting in Manchuria what the British Government attempted in India, namely disinfection of unwholesome wells by means of permanganate of potash.

"Red Tape."

Who said that the Circumlocution Office had been abolished, or that we were no longer swaddled in "red tape"? An enterprising original, who, greatly daring, tried to grow tobacco in England has found to the contrary. It appears that tobacco-growing in England is subject to regulations which require a pamphlet 3,000 words long, to explain. Here are some of the things which the producer must accomplish before he can get to work:—

Take out an annual licence.
Have his land and premises approved and scheduled.
Give a security.
Have his crop officially weighed.
Pay the duty.
Keep a tobacco entry book open to inspection.
Enter in his book the date of sowing or planting the variety of plant, the area planted, the number and address of other growers from whom or to whom he removes plants, with the varieties, number and date and so on, and so on.
Get permission before removing to 10000 from, on sending it to, another grower.
Give forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention to cut his crop.
Assist the excise officers in every way he can.
Pay £50 per acre every year of the regulations.
What is the object of these regulations? A cynic offers us the explanation that one of the officials has tried some "home" tobacco and has determined to run no risks in future.

TELEGRAMS.

THE REBELLION.

LI OR YUAN?

[Exclusive Service.]

Shanghai, Nov. 17, 1.10 p.m.
Sui Yat-nen cables from Paris to the effect that he is glad that a conference is being held at Shanghai to form a Central Government. He says that Li Yuan-hang should be President, or, if Li prefers that Yuan Shi-kai should be President, he will agree to this for the sake of the nation. All revolutionaries should remember that there should be no benefit to self.

WU PAYS NO HEED.

Wu Ting-fang has paid no attention to Yuan Shi-kai's call to the conference at Peking.

NANKING IN DANGER.

Twenty-five thousand rebels are converging on Hankow. After taking it they intend to march on Hankow and Peking.

EIGHTEEN KILLED.

FUGHTFUL EXPLOSION.

Singapore, Nov. 17, 12.25 p.m.
Eighteen Chinese were killed and five injured by an explosion of a new 2,000 tons capacity tank while it was being tested at the Asiatic Petroleum Works at Pulau Seban.

THE "AFFAIRE" ON BRITISH TERRITORY.

We are officially informed that the report which has appeared in the Press of the capture of eleven revolutionary soldiers carrying arms and rebel flags gives perhaps a rather misleading account of the incident, the true fact of which are as follows: The party were making their way to Shantakok by the usual road in a perfectly peaceful manner when they unwittingly crossed the frontier. They were disarmed by the police and their flags taken from them, and when the error into which they had fallen had been explained they were escorted across the frontier and their arms and flags returned to them.

THE EX-VICEROY.

LEAVES THE COLONY FOR EUROPE.

We have been informed, on what can be regarded as very reliable authority, that the ex-Viceroy of Canton, Mr. Cheung Ming-chee, has left Hongkong en route for Europe. His intention there to spend some four or five years studying European manners, customs, and the various forms of government. Before he left the Colony the ex-Viceroy had his queue removed and made a further concession to the people among whom he is to spend several years, by adopting European dress. We venture to say that the good wishes of our readers follow Mr. Cheung, and that they trust that the years he is to spend in Europe will be both profitable and pleasant.

"MOST REGRETTABLE"

Allaying Japanese Fears of War.

Fears of a Japanese-American war are not confined to America. The Japanese fear it, perhaps, more than Americans do, and when President Jordan, of Leland Stanford University, landed in Yokohama a few weeks ago, he was virtually besieged by a host of newspaper reporters who had come from Tokyo to ask him about the war-cloud. He assured them that "in spite of occasional alarms, the majority of our countrymen are decidedly friendly toward Japan, you may depend upon it," and added, according to the Osaka "Asahi," that the scare was started by shipbuilders and contractors to stimulate the building of battle-ships and the sale of armour and explosives. The main point of irritation, of course, is the question of Japanese immigration into California, and Dr. Jordan assured the Japanese that if they will only be patient, time will solve the problem in this way: "Japanese labour is undoubtedly needed in California. At the same time, it must be admitted that if the immigration of Japanese be permitted without restriction, California, whose white population is as yet comparatively small, may eventually become Asiatic rather than Caucasian. And the Caucasians were there first. But before many years the Caucasian population of that State will have been increased to such an extent that even the trade-unions and the labouring class can no longer arouse anti-Japanese sentiment on the plea that the influx of Japanese will submerge the Caucasian population in California. The only thing for Japan to do is to bide her time, and time will no doubt solve the question to her satisfaction."

The Japanese in California, who would have everything to lose in case of war, have sent home for Mr. Shimada to come to America and reassure Americans of Japan's peaceful intentions. Mr. Shimada is editor and proprietor of the Tokyo "Mainichi," he is one of the most celebrated writers of Japan, and has been a Member of Parliament ever since the Empire has had a constitutional government. He thinks the war-talk has been "most regrettable" but admits that the Japanese are "partly responsible."

In a speech at a farewell banquet tendered him by the Peace Society of Japan, he explained Japanese culpability by saying: "When we ought to have reduced taxes, curtailed armaments, and relieved the misery of a people which passed through one of the greatest conflicts in history, we have, instead, kept on building war-ships and increasing our Army, and thus invited the suspicions of the Powers. Yet the absurdity of war-talk with regard to Japan and America ought to be patent to any thinking mind. Short-sighted as we may be, we cannot help foreseeing what disastrous effects a war with America would bring upon us. Suppose we secure initial success in such a warfare, all the Western Powers would unite to crush us and make us an outcast. And if we should fail to secure a success, even at the initial stage, our downfall would be complete. It is our urgent duty to bring it home to the Americans that the interests and welfare of our country forbid us to embark upon such a disastrous war. When the Americans clearly understand our true intentions, the anti-Japanese agitation, which has no solid foundation, must necessarily die."

TRANSPORT ROHILLA.

LEAVES WITH HOME BOUND TROOPS.

The hired transport Rohilla, looking spick and span in her new coat of white paint, entered on the initial stage of her return voyage at 2 p.m. on Thursday. The Rohilla has on board about 24 officers and upwards of 500 other ranks, in addition to a large number of families. ## ENGLAND TO INDIA.

Addressing the members of the Royal United Service Institution, Mr. C. E. D. Black described a proposed railway from the Mediterranean to India, says the "Financial News." He said the projected railway was an effort to solve the question of a direct British all rail railway route to India, as contrasted with a more round-about route, passing through regions further north, where German, Russian, or other foreign influences were in evidence. Starting from Port Said, or rather, from the opposite bank of the Suez Canal, there was a feasible route eastward to Nushki, which was India's westernmost railroad at present. The railway would actually touch the sea at three points—Port Said, Akabah, and Koweit—and this exceptional feature would prove invaluable in case of hostilities or trouble anywhere within touch of the line, as it would enable troops, ammunition, weapons, or stores to be landed at any one of these various points.

Squaring Turkey.
The trans-Arabian route was in the open market, so to speak, and could be secured by anyone if proper measures were promptly taken. Turkey might probably be "squared" at the present moment, if the concession for the trans-Arabian line were demanded as the price of British consent to the prolongation of the Baghdad Railway to the Persian Gulf. The railway would shorten the journey to India by six days. For the rapid conveyance of troops from India to the Mediterranean, or vice versa, the line would be invaluable and of vital service to the Empire, while it would also be highly useful for the expeditious conveyance of officials, passengers, mails, and merchandise to and from India and countries beyond. It would be the only line of railway from Europe or the Mediterranean to India which would be practically under British control from end to end.

LOG BOOK.

A Year's New Ships.

The report of Lloyd's Register of Shipping for 1910-11 says: At the close of the year ended June 30, 1911, 10,400 merchant vessels, registering over 21,100,000 tons gross, held licenses, assigned by the Committee of Lloyd's Register. Of these vessels 6,508, of a tonnage of 13,080,840, were British.

Classes were assigned by the Committee to 616 new vessels. Their registered gross tonnage amounted to 1,098,476 tons. Of these vessels, 544 of 1,089,123 tons were steamers and 72 of 2,353 tons were sailing ships. These vessels were all constructed in accordance with approved plans, under the special supervision of the surveyors to Lloyd's Register. Of the total, 718,127 tons, or 65.3 per cent, were built for the United Kingdom, and 380,349 tons, or 34.5 per cent, for the British colonies and foreign countries. As compared with the figures for the preceding twelve months the present return, following the general movement of the shipbuilding industry, shows an increase of 165,420 tons as regards steamers and 3,110 tons as regards sailing vessels.

During the year the Vulcanus and the Holzapfel, which have been constructed under the survey of the society's surveyors and hold the society's highest class, have commenced work. The latter vessel is fitted with suction gas engines, using anthracite coal as fuel. Her engines are of small size, running at a very high speed of revolution, are not reversible. The connection with the screw shaft is made by a hydrodynamic transformer, which provides for a relatively slow speed of screw and also permits of reversing. The installation consumption, and the experience being obtained with the whole of the plant is being watched with great interest. The Vulcanus, of 1,179 tons gross, is fitted with Diesel engines of the four-stroke cycle type using heavy oil as fuel. She has recently completed a voyage from Rotterdam to the Black Sea and back. In her case the economy obtained during the experimental trial has been maintained in ordinary working, and her engines have been found to be reliable for prolonged non-stop work.

At the present date there are about to be built, with a view to classification in Lloyd's Register, 12 merchant vessels, which will be fitted with oil engines. The largest of these vessels will exceed 8,000 tons gross, and five others will be of 4,500 tons gross, and upwards. The majority are to be propelled by means of large Diesel engines, which are being constructed under the supervision of the society's surveyors. One set of the double-acting two-stroke cycle type has been erected, and is now undergoing exhaustive trials in the shop preparatory to being fitted on board. The other engines are all single-acting, and include examples of both the two-stroke and four-stroke cycle types. The experience which will be obtained with these engines will go far to settle question as to the best type for marine purposes. The interest which is being taken in this development of marine engineering is shown by the fact that several of the largest firms of marine engine builders in this country have arranged for the manufacture of oil engines on the Diesel principle.

Other forms of oil engines are being used for small powers, several firms now making reliable engines, some using ordinary refined kerosene oil as fuel, others using the cheaper heavy oils, such as shale oil, and residuum. The Committee has caused to be reprinted the paper on "Diesel Engines for Sea-going Vessels," with Mr. Milton, of the society of the Institution of Naval Architects, and copies can be obtained on application to the secretary of Lloyd's Register.
